New York College of Podiatric Medicine Library – Disclaimer and Privacy Policy

The information provided by the New York College of Podiatric Medicine (NYCPM) or any other health-related information provided by websites listed on NYCPM’s website does not imply medical recommendations, endorsements or approvals. Information and materials provided are intended for use as general information and should not be used as a substitute for consultation with a qualified health provider. Furthermore, NYCPM does not make any representation, warranty or claim that the information provided is current or accurate. As a result, NYCPM is not responsible or liable in any way for the personal use or interpretation for any errors or omissions in the resources or information available through it.

The Library has a website to mainly provide access to NYCPM students, faculty and alumni; to provide research tools to help users to find what they need quickly and efficiently; and to provide a set of preselected sites and resources that are reliable and safe for our library users. The librarians do not write health information except to provide brief descriptions of the website links.

You do not have to provide any personal information to visit this website. NYCPM does not ask for information that will allow us to identify you personally unless you choose to provide such information to us. We collect statistics about webpage usage to help us improve the site but none of this information identifies individual users or associates individuals with the pages they visit. When inquiries are emailed to us, we do not store this information.